Sub: Regarding 15 days (2 weeks) compulsory training for students admitted in 2017-18 (after I-year) for academic and skill development purposes.

Dear Sir/Madam

Recently, AICTE has issued guidelines for modal syllabus to be adopted by all technical institutes. AICTE has also advised for summer internships mandatory before completion of under graduation. This will equip the students with practical understanding and training about industry practices along with personality development and social sensitization.

RTU is in the process of making new syllabus as per AICTE and may adopt it for the batches admitted in 2017-18 and onwards. As per provisions, students of I year going to II year will have to undertake 15 days training during summer vacation compulsorily. There will be examination of training during III semester.

The institutes are required to arrange in-house training for the students admitted 2017-18 for 15 days during summer vacations. The institute may issue the certificate of in-house training, but no fees should be charged from the students for the training. It is advised that the in-house training duration may be kept from 01.07.2017 to 15.07.2018 at the institute.

The general areas of training may be as follows:

1. Soft skills
2. Auto CAD training
3. Practical Classes of C and C++
4. Working out a preliminary approach to the problem relating to the assigned topic
5. Conducting preliminary analysis/ modeling/ simulation/experiment
6. Preparing a written report on the study conducted for presentation to the department
7. Survey and data analysis
8. Working in Pradhan Mantri Swachhta Yojana as intern
9. Working in the village adopted by the institute
10. Social Outreach work with NGO
11. Any other area suitable to institute and useful for students.
